

<Tier1 >

MARPOL Annex VI [International Convention for the Prevention of Pollution from Ships], effective from May 2005, was the first set of regulations concerning NO_x emissions. It was applied retroactively to engines installed on oceangoing ships from January 1, 2000 onwards, and affected coastal ships constructed after May 19, 2005.